Farmingville, NY – On December 10, Councilwoman Jane Bonner was at the Mission Fencing Center in Rocky Point to watch the Division I Foil North America Cup competition. The two-day event included many of the best fencers in the USA vying for gold and valuable qualification points for the 2017 Senior World Championships. Athletes from a dozen countries, including the United States, Japan, Canada, Singapore, Taipei, Puerto Rico and Russia competed. The field included numerous contenders for the 2017 Senior World Team as well as past world medalists. Mission Fencing Center, owned by Mt. Sinai residents Jeff and Jennie Salmon, is nationally recognized in the sport of fencing. Councilwoman Bonner said, "Congratulations to Jeff and Jennie for being chosen to host this very prestigious international competition. Fencing doesn't get much publicity on Long Island, but we've got a world class facility right here in Rocky Point and I urge residents to stop by and watch these talented athletes in action."
